

USE OF INTERNET CONTACT TERMS

Information Voluntarily Submitted

Our firm only gathers personal information if you voluntarily submit such information. You can always choose not provide such information; however, if you don't provide us with personal identity information, we may not be able to contact you with the information you have requested.

Links to Other Sites

Our Website contains links to other websites. Please note that when you click on one of these links, you are moving to another website we do not control. We are not responsible for the privacy policies or other practices of such websites.

Our Security Policy

Protecting your information is of the highest priority. We have established procedures to safeguard our physical premises and to protect against the loss, disclosure, alteration, misuse or unauthorized access of personal information both online and offline. While we take reasonable efforts to ensure the security of information, there is no guarantee that any data transmitted over the Internet or stored via our website is 100% secure; this is the case for any service providers on the internet.

Use of website to contact us

No one can ensure 100% privacy when contact is made via a website or e-mail. Private and/or confidential information is at risk regardless of the efforts put forth by the site host.

Robert John and Associates, P.C., encourages potential clients to make contact via phone if at all possible. There are specific deadlines that must be met to preserve legal claims. Thus, be aware contact via the website or email does not create an attorney-client relationship. Further, any potential client should follow-up immediately by phone.

Your acceptance of These Terms

By using this website you agree to these terms as well as any additional terms set for in the Disclaimer section of this website.
